This is the Book of the Garment, and the fashioning of the garment known as the me'il ha-tzedakah (mantle of righteousness), whereon the Divine Names are written. Whoever wears it shall be saved from misery, distress, ruin and misfortune. The formation requires a seven step rite of purification.

Fast for seven days. One's body must not be defiled, either by the impurity of the dead, or by uncleanness of (intestinal) worms, or by menstruation.

At the end of those seven days, take a mikvah purification bath.

Then take gazelle parchment and weave it into a garment similar to the breastplate of the Ephod. Make sure that the shoulders and the belly are covered, as well as everything from the shoulders to the hips.

From that same parchment fashion a piece similar to a hood. No sleeves are required for the garment.

And these are the great and terrible Names that he must write upon that garment, front and rear. This is the shape of the garment and its preparation. And you shall write these Names on both of its sides, and another Name on the hood. This is their form [translator's note: I have used this key to convert Hebrew letters to English letters]:

א	A		ל	L
ב	B		מ	M
ג	G		נ	N
ד	D		ס	S
ה	H		ע	'
ו	W		פ	P
ז	Z		צ	Ṣ

כ	K		ת	T

Now, this is the Name that is written on the hood, in a circle similar to a wreath. If you wish to make a gold wreath (instead of the hood), then write out the same Name in the same way upon it.

And this is the Name that you shall write on the wreath or on the hood of the dress:
BHT ZTM ZGYM AYŠ ŠM TR ABR BAYMH ABNHMR GL AH GL GLAP TYR AL HY ZGYM YRWM YHYH YH YH AL HY WYH YH YH GY GYH YH YH Y

Henceforth, guard yourself as in the beginning. You may call the angels for seven days, using this operation each day.

Here ends the Book of the Garment.
